YORK REGION INCLUSION SUPPORT SERVICES

What is Inclusion Support Services?

Inclusion Support Services works with licensed child care programs across York Region—including home child care and after-school programs—to help make sure children with special needs feel welcome and included. The goal is to ensure all children can access high-quality child care that meets their needs.

SUPPORTING YOUR CHILD'S TRANSITION TO SCHOOL

Starting school is an exciting milestone and every child experiences it differently. Your Early Interventionist is here to help you and your child care team find strategies that suit your child's unique needs. Together, you can explore the ideas below and decide which ones may be helpful to include in your Individual Program Plan.

SOCIAL INTERACTION AND COMMUNICATION

- Help your child feel comfortable playing and talking with other kids and adults.
- Plan fun outings to places like parks, libraries, or EarlyON Child and Family Centres to give your child more chances to meet and play with other children with your support.
- Explore summer camps or recreation programs to help your child get used to new routines and environments.
- Think about how your child communicates their needs—whether through words, gestures, or expressions—and help them build on those skills.
- Encourage your child to develop coping skills that help them manage everyday situations.

SCHOOL ROUTINES AND ACTIVITIES

- Keep a regular daily routine at home, like consistent wake-up, meal, and bedtime schedules, while gently encouraging your child to try new things.
- Help your child get ready for school by slowly adjusting home routines to match the school schedule, such as earlier wake-up and meal times.
- Give clear, simple directions and gently guide your child to follow through.
- Organize toys and materials so your child can make choices on their own and learn to tidy up afterward.
- Try using school-like materials at home—such as child-sized chairs, scissors, crayons, playdough, and puzzles.
- Visit the school playground or nearby play areas to help your child feel more comfortable in a school-like setting.
- Practice the trip to school, whether walking or taking the bus, and encourage your child to carry their own backpack.
- Read books and sing songs about going to school and riding the bus. A great example is The Kissing Hand by Audrey Penn.

SELF-HELP / INDEPENDENCE

- Create a special spot for toys, coats and shoes, and help your child learn to put things away after using them.
- Hang a hook at your child's height so they can hang up their coat by themselves.
- Give your child time to play independently with familiar toys and activities. Start with short periods and gradually increase the time.
- Use simple reminders—like words or pictures—to help your child know when it's time to switch from one activity to another.
- Practice toileting routines—like pulling pants up and down, wiping, and washing hands. Let your child's teacher know about any equipment your child uses or may need at school.
- Encourage your child to sit at the table for snacks and meals, just like they will at school.
- Practice opening and closing containers, lunch bags, backpacks, and water bottles.
- Help your child learn to pack and unpack their backpack.
- Practice putting on and taking off coats, shoes, and boots.

TRANSITION TO SCHOOL TIMETABLE

For the York Catholic District School Board and York Region District School Board.

Planning ahead can help make your child's transition to school easier.

TRANSITION ACTIVITY	WHEN timelines are approximate
Parents are invited to attend a Transition to School Orientation session by their Early Interventionist. At this session, parents will learn about the process and complete the "Notification of Support Needs for a Child Transitioning to School" document. We encourage you to join us to ask questions, share experiences, and connect with other parents—some of whom may have children attending the same school as yours. If you're not able to attend, that's okay. Your Early Interventionist can help you complete the notification and consent forms. The consent form gives permission for information about your child's support needs to be shared with the school board(s) of your choice, to help prepare for your child's transition to school.	October – November (year before school entry)
The Early Interventionist informs parents about the school board's dates, times and locations for the special education information sessions. These sessions provide information about the school programs and identify various school board personnel and resources.	December (year before school entry)
School boards schedule a transition meeting with you to discuss your child's special education needs. If the school board transition meeting has not been scheduled by the end of March, you may contact the principal of your child's home school to inquire. You may invite your Early Interventionist or any other professionals working with your child to attend if you would like support at this meeting.	January – March
Parents register their child at their home school.	January
School boards host special education information evenings for parents.	January/February
Parents thinking about enrolling their child in a school-age program, should connect with the child care provider to register for September.	February/March
Parents attend a transition meeting with the school board. If the parent plans to send their child to an after-school program, the parent could invite the supervisor of the school-age program to attend.	March – June
Your Early Interventionist will complete a Transition to School /End of Service Report, and you will be discharged from Inclusion Support Services. You are encouraged to share this report with your child's classroom teacher.	July – August
If your child is attending an after school program, your school age provider can submit the Inclusion Support Services Consultation Request Form to access supports for their program as needed.	September
